

Choose a career in information technology

Be the next IT Girl!

“The geeks are really inheriting the earth.”

- Karen Panetta

*Professor of Electrical & Computer
Engineering at Tufts University, self-proclaimed Nerd Girl, and a fan of pink high heels*

Embrace your inner geek...

Girls ages 12-17 dominate the online blogosphere and social networking sites in terms of participation and content creation.*

Indulge your passion...

Can't get enough of the latest features on the iPhone? Adore creating new blog templates? Enroll in a computer science or multimedia design program and connect the world with your work!

Be a star...

Love the special effects in 'Harry Potter'? Rockin' out on 'Guitar Hero'? Get a degree in computer generated imagery (CGI) or computer science and leave your mark on the entertainment or gaming industry!

A career in computing is a lot like you...

Flexible, diverse, brainy, & fun, all at the same time!
