Use the information above to create a handout for students and advisors to use when determining a “path of least resistance” for transferring. The handout could be institution-specific or contain contact information for multiple local institutions. You might name it “Contact Information for CS & IT Transfer and Articulation Advisors,” or something to that effect. See a sample contact information directory on the next page.

**NOTE: Some department-specific transfer advisors change yearly. In some cases, it is recommended that you call the department office to inquire about the undergraduate transfer liaison who can assist you in determining which classes will transfer.*
